Personality

What do you like to do in your spare time (i.e. hobbies)?

I love all things vintage, particularly mid century, and I collect vintage and vintage reproduction clothing, furniture, and household items. I'm also a bit of a nerd and love reading, writing, playing video games with my husband and our online group of friends, and bingewatching SciFi and fantasy shows on Netflix.

Do you enjoy reading or do you prefer more active things?

I'm more of a good book, indoorsy kind of girl.

What sports do you enjoy?

I'm not really in to most sports, but I do like watching baseball.

What goals do you have in your life?

My family is my biggest priority, and I just want to ensure that my kids are happy, healthy and successful in whatever they want to do. I'm also working on my prerequisites for nursing school and would eventually like to become a midwife.

Have you achieved any of them?

So far so good on the happy kid front! Most of the time. :)

What is your philosophy of life?

Family is the most important thing in life, whether that's the family you're born in to or the one you discover along the way.

Explain why you want to be a surrogate

I first started thinking about surrogacy when I was pregnant with my firstborn. I had really enjoyed being pregnant, and the idea that I could help others experience the gift of a child seemed so special and exciting to me.

How will the money you make from being a surrogate support you?

My husband and I purchased our first home, a mid century modern bungalow in almost original condition, at the beginning of 2016. We're slowly working on renovating while staying true to it's amazing retro character.

Education

Do you speak any languages other than English?

no

If so, please list other languages

How were your grades overall?

In high school I wasn't really sure where I was headed in life, and my grades suffered because of it. It was only after I had kids and a plan for my life that I was able to focus and do well in school.

In high school, what subjects did you excel in?

English and History were my favorite subjects and I always did very well in those classes.

Which subjects did you not care for?

Math has always been a struggle for me.

In which extracurricular activities did you participate?

My family and I were puppy raisers for Guide Dogs for the Blind.

Did you go to college?

yes

If yes, where did you go? What was your major and what degree(s) did you receive?

I'm currently attending Sierra Community College part time and working on my prerequisites for nursing school.

What did you want to be in life when you were in high school?

I had no idea!

Family and Childhood

What does/did your father do for a living?

My dad works for the commercial air compressor business that his father started.

What is his educational background?

He went back to finish his Bachelor's Degree in Business through an online program when I was in high school.

What does/did your mother do for a living?

My mom is a real estate agent.

What is her educational background?

She graduated from UC Santa Barbra with an English degree.

Authentically, what is your relationship with your parents?

My parents and I had a very difficult relationship during my teenage years. During my first pregnancy, my mom and I became very close and she acted as my labor partner during my daughter's birth. I spend a lot of time with my mom now, and my husband and I joke that she and her boyfriend are our best couple friends! My dad and I still aren't close, but we do get along much better now.

How would you describe yourself as a child?

Even as a kid I was pretty nerdy. I spent my recesses reading Harry Potter (over and over again!) or drawing with my friends rather than playing on the playground. I also had a big imagination and loved creating stories for my friends and I to act out with our Barbies.

What are your memories (good and bad) of school?

My best memories are of the friendships I made in school. I had a small group of close friends that were very special to me, and we had a lot of great times together. My worst memories are probably of my struggles in math that really hurt my academic confidence and took a long time for me to recover from.

Describe your childhood, including your happiest and saddest memories

I had a pretty happy childhood. In my early years, my mom worked days and my dad worked nights, so there was always someone home with my brother and I. As we got older, my dad started working days, and both my parents worked long hours, so we spent a lot of time in a before and after school program, which was usually pretty fun, but I missed my parents a lot. Because they worked so hard we were able to go on many fun vacations as a family, and my happiest memory was our first trip to Disneyland (I'm a huge Disney fan to this day). My saddest memory was when our puppy was diagnosed with hip dysplasia and had to be put down just a few months after we had brought him home.

Match CompatibilityHow important was religion in your home as a child?

It wasn't a huge part of our lives, but we went to church occasionally.

What is your religion (if any) and what kind of religious training did you receive?

I was raised and confirmed as a Lutheran, but I don't identify with any particular religion.

Do you attend church regularly?

no

Have you been a surrogate before?

yes

if yes, when and what were the circumstances?

Yes, I just completed my first journey in June 2017. I carried a baby boy for a wonderful same-sex couple from San Francisco.

What qualities in your intended parent(s) are most important to you?

Honest and open communication.

What kind of relationship are you looking for with your intended parent(s) during your pregnancy?

I'm open to any sort of relationship, whether it's more professional or friendly, but I would just ask that the intended parents are clear with their expectations of me and that relationship.

What kind of relationship do you want with the intended parent(s) and child after the birth?

I'm fine with whatever the intended parents are comfortable with. I'd love to keep in touch, but I know life can be unpredictable.

Would you like them to be in the delivery room when the baby is born?

Yes.

If the doctor deems it medically necessary, are you willing to undergo an amniocentesis?

yes

If it was determined that the child had severe physical or mental abnormalities and the parents chose to abort, would you be willing to abort? Please explain:

Yes, I understand that it's not a choice anyone would make lightly, especially in this situation.

Would you be willing to carry twins?

yes

Would you be willing to carry triplets?

no

If you became pregnant with three or four embryos and the parent(s) choose to reduce to two, would you be willing to do selective reduction?

yes

What do you plan to tell your children about this pregnancy and child?

I'll tell my kids that I'm helping another family have a baby. My daughter was great about understanding surrogacy last time and just loved telling EVERYONE all about it (including a very awkward encounter with strangers at a nail salon!), but my son was still too young to understand.

If the child wishes to meet you someday, how would you feel?

I'm totally fine with that.

Have you ever had any of the following:

- tattoo
- piercing

If you checked any box above, please give dates and details.

I have 3 tattoos, the most recent was done in May of 2012, and had my nose pierced in August of 2015.

Is there anything else you would like to tell the Intended Parent(s), or think they should to know?

Just that I'm so excited for this journey and to help them grow their family.

Reproductive HistoryHave you ever had problems conceiving a child?

no

If yes, please explain.

Please share your birthing experience. Did you have any complications?

I had a pretty standard birth with my daughter. I went in to labor around midnight on my due date, went to the hospital at 7 am, and had an epidural in the afternoon once I reached 8 cm. My daughter was posterior and after pushing unsuccessfully for a while, she had to be manually turned by my OB, but didn't need any other assistance after that, and she was born at 7:15 pm.

Second child's birth weight?

8 lbs 0 oz

Please share your birthing experience. Did you have any complications?

I went in to labor with my son at 38 weeks and 5 days in the afternoon. On our way to the hospital, I started vomiting, and had to be given IV fluids for dehydration once I was admitted. After that my labor stalled and contractions were coming less frequently. I spent the night in the hospital, and they started pitocin in the morning. The pitocin wasn't having much effect, and finally in the afternoon they broke my water. At that point the contractions started coming very fast and very intense, and I had an epidural. While the epidural was being placed, I started feeling a lot of pain and pressure, and my son was born just 45 minutes after my water was broken.

Third child's birth weight?

8 lbs 11 oz

Please share your birth experience. Were there any complications?

This was my first surrogate birth. My water broke at 11 pm on Saturday, at 40 weeks, but I wasn't having any contractions. The hospital had me come in the next morning for a stress test and to test my fluids, and then sent me home with instructions to come back the next morning if I still hadn't gone in to labor. Sunday went by with no sign of labor. At 1 am on Monday morning I started having contractions. By 3 they were intense and regular so we left for the hospital. By the time we arrived, I was feeling the intense pressure of baby's head, and got in the birth tub as soon as it was ready. I pushed for a long time, but wasn't making progress, so they had me get out to try other positions. Eventually the midwife discovered that baby was posterior and coming brow first, which is why I hadn't been able to make any progress with pushing. I had an epidural so that the OB could try to turn him, but at that point he was too far to be turned, and had to be delivered with the assistance of forceps.

No

Have you or anyone in your home ever been treated for mental illness?

Yes.

If yes, please explain and medications, diagnosis and hospitalizations.

I've experienced situational depression a few times in my life. The first was in high school due to some typical teenager issues, when I lost my job when I was 19, and after my son was born and I was struggling with difficult, painful breastfeeding. I was on Prozac for a brief time in high school, and then I took Zoloft for a couple of months after my son's birth.
